

CPN FACT SHEET

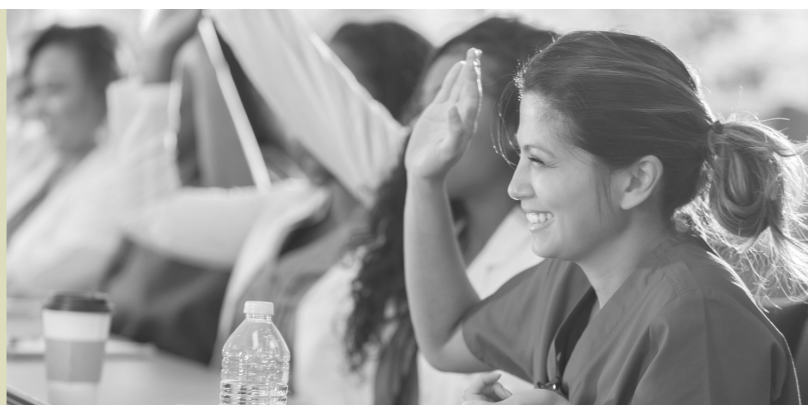

More than 25,000 RNs actively hold PNCB's Certified Pediatric Nurse (CPN) credential.

Explore the latest stats related to these expert members of your health care team.

175

QUESTIONS

Knowledge tested on the exam is focused and in-depth. See what's tested: get the content outline at www.pncb.org.

79%

PASS RATE*

The exam is respected for its rigor. Most RNs must study hard to pass. Self-study and review classes benefit RNs and patients.

90%

STAY CERTIFIED

CPN renewal rates have been 90% or above every year since 2011... at the top among all other RN certifications.

61%

DIRECT CARE

39%

OTHER

CPN isn't only for the bedside. Consultants, educators, researchers, CNOs, and other roles hold CPN too.

15/yr

ANNUALLY

CPN renewal requires 15 contact hours or accepted equivalents each year. CPNs stand out by demonstrating currency more often than any other RN specialty.

76%

TESTED RISK FREE

In 2016, 76% of new CPNs (n=3068) earned certification via PNCB's No Pass, No Pay program.

We can show you a list of employers with CPNs on staff, or tell you that it's free to offer No Pass, No Pay with no penalty fee for not meeting a minimum. But what really matters is that CPN certification makes a difference for the nurse, the employer, and your patients.

Ask a CPN today why they decided to get and stay certified. Then learn more about employer support, or get certified yourself, at: www.pncb.org

*2017 pass rate through July 1, 2017